To Stop Auto Speeding.
City Marshal Silvy has started a campaign against automobile speeding. He has repeatedly given warning that the speed laws and automobile regulations adopted by the city in a special ordinance will be enforced. This ordinance forbids faster driving than twelve miles an hour on streets of Ellsworth within the following limits:

From the junction of State and Oak streets, down either street over High or Water street to Washington street.

From McKenzie avenue on Main or Union street to the John Black homestead on the Barry road and on Court street to the S. J. Goodwin place.

Also at Ellsworth Falls, from the junction of State and North streets to the bridge over Union river, and to the junction of the Waltham road and Mill street, a street within above limits, including those named.

Automobile drivers have been repeatedly warned, and copies of the ordinance have been distributed. The first arrests for the season were made Saturday, when two Ellsworth young men were arrested for fast driving on Main street. They pleaded guilty in the municipal court, and were fined $10 and costs. The fines were suspended on payment of costs, amounting to $5.31 in each case.

MARIAVILLE, May 10 (special)—Monroe and Pearl Frost, both of this town, were drowned yesterday at Mattawamkeag. The men left Bangor Monday to go to work on the drive at Mattawamkeag. The bodies will be brought to Mariaville today.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson VII.—Second Quarter, May 14, 1916.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Acts xiii, 13-52. Memory Verses, 45, 46—Golden Text, Acts xiii, 47—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

When they crossed over to the mainland from Cyprus John left them and returned to Jerusalem (verse 13). We are not told why, but it made trouble later even between such friends as Barnabas and Paul (chapter xv, 36-40). It is a relief to read in what was probably Paul's last letter, "Take Mark and bring him with thee, for he is profitable to me for the ministry" (II Tim. iv, 11). John Mark, having left them, Paul and Barnabas kept on their way to Antioch, in Pisidia, and our lesson today is Paul's Sabbath day talk in the synagogue there, which was followed the next Sabbath by a talk to a very large company of gentiles. It is said that almost the whole city came together to hear the word of God (verse 44). The Jews, seeing Paul get the crowd that next Sunday, were filled with envy and contradicted Paul's teaching and blasphemed. Then the apostle said boldly, "Seeing you put it from you, we turn to the gentiles." And he quoted a prophecy concerning the final gathering of the gentiles to the Lord at His coming and kingdom (Isa. xlii, 6; xliii, 6), for, as one has said, prophecy has many a germinant accomplishment throughout the ages, while the complete fulfillment is yet in the future.

As the gentiles heard the glad tidings many believed, and the word of the Lord was published throughout all that region (verses 45-49). The expression, "as many as were ordained to eternal life believed" (verse 48), is another way of saying, "All that the Father giveth me shall come to me" (John vi, 37). This is not the age of winning the world to Christ, but of gathering out from the world those whom the Father has given to the Son to be His bride. All should hear the offer of salvation, and whosoever will may receive Him, but He knows who will come. The adversary became so stirred by Christ being thus exalted that the Jews and chief men and devout and honorable women persecuted Paul and Barnabas and expelled them out of their coasts. Therefore they departed and came unto Iconium, but the disciples were filled with joy and with the Holy Ghost. The word of the Lord will always accomplish His pleasure and never return to Him void, but to some it will bring life and to others death (Isa. lv, 11; II Cor. ii, 15, 16).

We will give the rest of our time to a consideration of some things in this great sermon of Paul's at Antioch, and we notice first that four times he speaks of the resurrection of Christ (verses 23, 30, 33, 37), the all important truth of the gospel, quoting from Ps. ii and xvi and Isa. lv concerning it and referring to the sure mercies of David, which David himself called an everlasting covenant, ordered in all things and sure (II Sam. xlii, 5). All failure is ours, but God is faithful, and His purposes cannot fail. David in his last hours felt that he had come far short, but he rested all on the faithfulness of God and His sure, everlasting covenant. We saw in our recent study in I Cor. xv the importance of the resurrection of Christ, and in Him, the risen, living one, shall every promise to Abraham and David be fulfilled (Matt. i, 1; Rev. xxi, 16).

Speaking to Jews Paul always called their attention to God's purpose concerning Israel, and on this occasion he began with their deliverance from Egypt and followed on through the wilderness, the times of the judges and the reign of the first two kings, Saul and David. And that brought him to the promise to David concerning the Messiah and His kingdom and to the assertion that this Jesus who had been crucified by the Jews, but raised from the dead by God the Father, was indeed the Messiah of Israel. He referred to John the Baptist's testimony concerning Him as the Messiah who had fulfilled all that the prophets had said concerning His sufferings and that He would as truly fulfill in due time all that had been predicted concerning His kingdom and glory (verses 16-37). Since their Messiah had actually come and been rejected what could now be done? Was there any hope for any one? Then he proclaimed through Jesus Christ the forgiveness of sins for all who would receive Him as the crucified and risen one, assuring them that He would come again to restore all things of which the prophets had spoken, be a light to all nations through Israel and bring salvation to the ends of the earth (verses 38, 39, 47).

The Jews would naturally be stirred to enmity and wrath by the accusation that they were guilty of the rejection of their Messiah, and the gentiles would be glad to hear that there was salvation even for them and a part in His kingdom and glory. Compare chapters III, 19-21; IV, 12; Isa. ix, 1-3; Lk. i, 2. And be sure for yourself, O reader of these lines, that you have in Him, by His precious blood, the eternal redemption, the forgiveness of sins, which He has purchased at such infinite cost for all who will receive Him. Then when He shall come in His glory to set up His kingdom of peace on earth you shall be with Him and share His kingdom and glory (Col. iii, 4; Rev. v, 9, 10).

Mutual Benefit Column.

EDITED BY "AUNT MADGE".

Its Motto: "Helpful and Helpful."

The purposes of this column are succinctly stated in the title and motto—it is for the mutual benefit, and aims to be helpful and hopeful. Being for the common good, it is for the common use—a public servant, a purveyor of information and suggestion, a medium for the interchange of ideas. Its capacity is solicited communications, and its success depends largely on the support given it in this respect. Communications must be signed, but the name of writer will not be printed except by permission. Communications will be subject to approval or rejection by the editor of the column, but none will be rejected without good reason. Address all communications to Children of yesterday, Heirs of to-morrow, Look at your fabric, Of labor and sorrow, Seamy and dark With despair and disaster. Turn it, and—fol The design of the Master. The Lord's at the loom: Room for Him—Room!

Dear M. B. Friends:

When you look at the title of the poem sent by Aunt Emma, you will recall other poems we have had, with the same comparison of life: but there is a crispness in this that drives the truth home. It is a personal charge. It seems to be addressed to whoever is reading it. It is an assurance that life is not a careless combination of events, but that a pattern is being worked out, with its shades of dark and light, that will make a harmonious whole.

WEST FRANKLIN, May 2, 1916.

Dear Friends of the M.B.C.:

How I have enjoyed all your nice letters and poems, during my long illness. Have not been able to read them myself until lately. Am glad to say that I am gaining a little, but have not been dressed yet. I feel that it is very late to mention anything about Christmas, but I do wish to thank all, through the column, for the many kindly remembrances sent, also on my birthday, and at Easter. Wish it were possible to send each one a card. My neighbors were also very kind in bringing and sending me so many things to tempt my appetite. I cannot express my gratitude in words, so will just say, God bless you all. I hope all the sick ones are gaining fast. I think it has been a very hard winter for every one.

I feel that I must say just a word or two to those who have a foolish stomach to cater to. Eat what agrees with you, and let the rest alone, that is better than to suffer, as I know by long experience. Am glad to know there are so many new ones added to our numbers, and yet there is room for more. I often feel that I would like to meet each one face to face and clasp the hand, but of course we cannot do that. We will just think how good they are and are one with us.

Have had to rest a few times while writing this, as it is really my first real letter written with a pen for a number of months. Will write later on, if all is well, to help out in housecleaning time. Will send a few clippings to be used as needed.

With my best wishes for all.

AUNT EMMA.

We do appreciate the effort you made to write this good letter to us all, but don't use a pen next time. We will be glad to have one written with pencil, and that would be easier for you. We hope these sunny days in May will do you lots of good. It has surely been a hard winter for many of our members: Janet, Dell, S. J. Y., Aunt Mary, Ann, M. W. H. and others.

Dear Aunt Madge:

C. and I were very much interested in what you said about your sampler. I have one before me now, the one C. worked almost eighty years ago. It is ten and a half by eleven and a half inches, with a narrow hem on three sides and a selvage edge on the fourth. There is a tiny row of cross-stitching all around it. There are several alphabets of different sized letters, worked with different colored silks. Between each row of letters there is a cross-stitch pattern, nine in all on this sampler, and of several different patterns. After the alphabets come the name and the following words: "Clarissa E. Peters, Sampler. Wrought July 1887. Born July 28th. Aged 8. Bluehill Maine. Instructed by M. Wilcox." C. says that she was first taught to sew by Miss Wilcox.

The ends of the lines are filled out with

"I DON'T SUFFER ANY MORE"

"Feel Like a New Person," says Mrs. Hamilton.

New Castle, Ind.—"From the time I was eleven years old until I was seventeen I suffered each month so I had to be in bed. I had headache, backache and such pains I could not do anything. I did not know what it was to be easy a minute. My health was all run down and the doctors did not do me any good. A neighbor told my mother about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it, and now I feel like a new person. I don't suffer any more and I am regular every month."—Mrs. HAZEL HAMILTON, 822 South 15th St.

When a remedy has lived for forty years, steadily growing in popularity and influence, and thousands upon thousands of women declare they owe their health to it, is it not reasonable to believe that it is an article of great merit?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

fancy stitches. The following stanza completes the sampler:

Brothers and sisters, hand in hand Our lips together, more Oh smile upon this little band And join our hearts in love.

There are many stitches for a little maid of nine to take, and the sampler shows the painstaking care of the teachers of long ago.

H. Thanks for this description of C's sampler. Perhaps that "early training" in sewing, accounts for the hundreds of dainty stitches C. has taken in so many nice pieces of work, even within a few years. She will not mind if I tell a short story of one phase of life in her old home. She had nine brothers, and sewing machines had not been invented, neither was ready-made clothing for sale. A tailor came to the house and worked with her needle day after day, and week after week; and it is a tradition in the family that by the time the ninth boy had a pair of new pants to wear, the pants made for the first boy had come to mending.

Changing from the simile of the loom, here is another illustration of life, also sent by Aunt Emma. This may appeal to some, more than the comparison of the loom. This "cog" idea seems rather more exciting:

"I'm but a cog in life's vast wheel, That daily makes the same old trip, Yet what a joy it is to feel That but for me the wheel might slip! 'Tis something, after all, to jog 'Along, and be a first-class cog."

GRAHAM PUDDING—One small cup molasses, 1 cup sweet milk, 2 cups graham flour, 1 cup chopped raisins, 1 teaspoon soda, a little salt. Steam two hours; serve with hard sauce or plain boiled sauce—B. E.

Preparedness.

Has it ever occurred to you, my friend, That this country of ours, from end to end, Is booked for a shake-up, and changes great, Which may cause you to fear for its ultimate fate?

And revise your ideas of our smartness? For years we have witnessed a growth so grand, That we've called it "The Lord's most favored land."

Protected by seas so long and wide, We surely concluded that all outside Would leave us alone in our greatness.

Refinement and culture had thinned the blood Of the nations who fought since Noah's flood. Their fiercest passions were lulled to rest, They had learned that peace was the greatest and best And had buried the hatchet forever.

But alas for ideals so high and fine, The old idea that "what's yours shall be mine,"

Has leveled the barriers of voice and pen; As Napoleon said, "What's a million men As against the claims of ambition?"

Are you still asleep? Then awake to-day Before some nation across the way At the end of conflicts now raging wild Shall conclude we're no men but a helpless child And levy a toll of billions.

No doubt you have heard of the Arab Sheik Whose trust was great, but his nature meek. When twilight fell and the day was done, He quoth to his favorite, fiery son, "Our work is past. Let us slumber."

"We will trust in the Lord. Leave our camels free!"

But the son was no twig like the family tree. His ideas were his own, and this answer he made,

"We will trust in the Lord as most wisely you've said, But our camels we'll tie securely."

Now trust is right, and no hobby we ride; We trust wars will stop on the other side, But when treaties are "paper" and might is right, We should look to the future with keenest sight And let trust give way to precaution.

PACKING POULTRY.

Specialists Recommend Best Methods of Handling.

(Weekly News Bulletin, U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

Poultry packers are urged by the specialists of the department to give unusual attention to preparing and packing their birds for shipment, particularly in the mild weather.

The specialists, therefore, recommend the particular observance of the following methods of handling dressed poultry, which are essential to a perfect product at any time, and are of vital importance whenever weather conditions are unfavorable:

1. Keep the holding batteries for your incoming stock clean, well aired, and free from vermin, and see that the chickens have plenty of fresh water and plenty to eat.

2. Don't kill a chicken when the crop is full of feed. Give the chicken only water for twenty-four hours before it is killed. Food in the crop or in the intestines of a dressed chicken causes loss of flavor and hastens decay, which more than offsets any gain from extra weight.

3. Good bleeding is absolutely essential to a good appearance on the market and retards decay. Circular 61, bureau of chemistry, department of agriculture, explains the best methods of bleeding and loosening the feather muscles for dry picking.

4. Hang the chicken by both feet while picking. Hanging by one leg spoils the shape of the bird. Picking on the lap sets the skin dirty and hastens decay.

5. Dry pick if possible. Scalding is particularly undesirable because it hastens decay.

6. Chill every dressed bird until the body temperature is below 35 degrees F. Never pack or ship an imperfectly chilled bird. More decay is due to imperfect chilling than to any other single factor in dressing. Dry chill, if possible. Chickens cooled in water lose flavor, decay sooner, will not cold-store as satisfactorily as dry-chilled, and are in every way more undesirable on the market. Refrigerator cars will carry well-chilled goods in good condition, but they can not chill warm goods to a sufficiently low temperature.

7. Pack in boxes or small kegs whenever possible. A large barrel makes an undesirable package, because where poultry is packed in large masses the weight of the upper layers crushes the birds at the bottom.

8. Line all packages with parchment paper and cover the top of the poultry before the lid is put on.

9. Wrap every head in suitable paper so that blood from one bird will not mar the appearance of another.

Never handle chickens roughly, either before or after killing. Rough handling causes bruises, broken bones, scarred skins, and soft places in the flesh. Undue haste on the part of the killers and pickers results in lowered keeping quality and poor appearance of the product.

Piecework, which leads to quantity rather than quality, makes for lower prices on the market. Those who pay by the piece should remember that they sell by the quality of the piece.

When The Circus Comes To Town.

Where is there a man, woman or child who has not felt the circus thrill? While there are many small circuses visiting the smaller towns, there are a few visiting only the largest cities owing to the huge operating expense.

The 101 Ranch of Bliss, Okla., has probably as warm a spot in the hearts of all circus followers as has any of the great tented aggregations. The 101 Ranch was the "official" circus of the Panama exposition, and it was here that the idea of producing a great western photo-drama, with the exposition as a background, was conceived.

The finished picture, the "Exposition's First Romance", is now in the hands of distributors and is a refreshing change from the average burly burly of cheap dramatics. The exposition in all its entirety is shown, and for the big scenes, life on the range is shown in all its details. Throughout the film runs a romantic story. Miller Bros., 101 Ranch Real Wild West has scored a tremendous victory. To operate a gigantic circus is all right, but to produce a successful film is another matter. The Millers have done both.

Joseph Miller, one of the Miller Bros., has appointed Earle B. Tinker, of Ellsworth, as special representative for the State of Maine.

Peter F. Parquet and wife left yesterday for Bar Harbor to visit Mrs. Parquet's brother, Liston Mayo. They will leave to-day for Athol, Mass., to make their home. The best wishes of their many friends here go with them.

What the Doctor Knows.

KIDNEYS MUST BE RIGHT TO INSURE HEALTH.

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot readily be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's disease, which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, caused nearly ten thousand deaths in one year, in the State of New York alone. Therefore, it is particularly necessary to pay more attention to the health of these important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

The mild and healing influence of this preparation, in most cases, is soon realized, according to sworn statements and verified testimony of those who have used the remedy.

When your kidneys require attention, get Swamp-Root at once from any pharmacy. It is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c. and $1.00.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation, send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Ellsworth Weekly American.

SIMPLE COLDS OF CHILDREN.

It seems as if some catch a new cold every few days. If they are strong and rugged they may throw it off but it is risky to trust to luck. Better give it quick treatment and don't take any chances of its getting worse, because if you do the child may be laid up sick and you will have a lot of worry and doctor's bills.

Best way to rid the child of the cold is to give it a few drops of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment on a teaspoonful of sugar. Give it about every four hours. The children like it, too! And it sure does stop a cold quick.

You've heard of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment probably ever since you were a child yourself.

Maybe you didn't know that the recipe was discovered by a doctor, old Doctor Abner Johnson, a Yankee doctor down in Maine.

He made it to stop pain and increase the circulation. It's so safe you take it inside for a cold or rub it on outside to stop pain. And it does the work.

So whenever you need a liniment for anything, use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. You can buy it most any place where medicine is sold.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 10, 1916.

The formal tender of 5,000 acres of land on Mt. Desert island as a national park was made to the government through President Wilson last Wednesday. In offering to the government the tract, George P. Dorr, of Boston, in behalf of the citizens behind the movement, was accompanied by Senator Johnson and Representatives Hinds and Peters. Mr. Dorr explained the project in detail. It is believed the land will be accepted. Secretary of Interior Lane has endorsed the movement. The President has authority under the law to establish national monuments by proclamation. The land offered includes the greater part of the mountainous center of the island, tracts that have little value beyond their natural beauty. As a national park the reservation would probably become a place for the protection of fauna, especially bird life. There is no such reserve in New England. Associated with Mr. Dorr in the plan are Dr. Charles W. Elliot, of Harvard, Lee McVaine Luquer, of New York, L. B. Deasy, of Bar Harbor, and others.

Concentration of Schools.

Ellsworth is nearing the end of its first school year under the district superintendence plan. We have yet to hear the first complaint from a citizen of Ellsworth that the experiment has not been satisfactory. The year has been marked by a quickening of interest in their work on the part of the teachers and pupils, and by an awakening of interest in the schools on the part of the citizens. The bugaboo of politics has been practically eliminated, and the citizens can get together on common ground for free and unprejudiced discussion of school matters, having in view only the best good for the schools and for the community.

The time seems ripe, therefore, for another step in advance, in the way of school concentration or consolidation. There are several schools in Ellsworth which might well be consolidated with other schools, not only for the sake of greater school efficiency, but for economy. We believe the school department is the last in which economy should be practiced if at the expense of efficiency, but when efficiency and economy both point in the direction of school concentration, it seems the wise and logical course to pursue.

Did the finances of the city permit, a large central school building, to accommodate pupils from all sections of the city proper, would be the ideal solution, but this is out of the question, for the present, at least. Something can be done, however, in the way of concentration of the schools, if the parents will co-operate with the school officials. The Water street school, for instance, might well be discontinued, and the children now attending there sent to the Pine street school. The same might be done at the Infant street school, the children being sent to the Falls school. We believe these two consolidations alone would result in a saving to the city of from $800 to $900 a year, while the change would be a benefit to the children through the well recognized fact that the greater competition among pupils of a large school is an incentive to better school work.

This matter of school consolidation is not a new proposition; it has been broached in years past, but between parents and politics, obstacles that were insurmountable were always thrown in the way. We believe the present school board, if it should take the matter up, would find the parents in a more receptive mood than formerly, and more ready to co-operate with the school officials.

The German Reply.

The reply of Germany to the demand of this country that the indiscriminate submarine warfare cease at once or diplomatic relations would be severed, has been received. Germany meets the issue with an adroitness which must be admired even if the evasiveness of the reply leaves much to be desired.

Germany had two problems to face—the possibility of war with this country, which she desires to avoid, and the possibility of internal disturbance if too ready submissiveness was shown. She met both by injecting a third issue—the English blockade of German ports. In substance she says she will grant all the United States demands, and continue the new order in force until she is satisfied that the influence of the United States has not put a stop to the English blockade, and then—she will think about it.

Thus Germany has avoided an immediate break with this country, as the reply has been accepted as satisfactory until new violations of the promise occur, and has pacified the German populace by a war-like front and the thrust at England.

The meat of the German reply to the ultimatum from this country is as follows:

The German government is prepared to do its utmost to confine operations of the war for the rest of its duration to the fighting forces of the belligerents, thereby also insuring freedom of the seas, a principle upon which the German government believes, now as before, that it is in agreement with the government of the United States.

The German government, guided by this idea, notifies the government of the United States that German naval forces have received the following order:

"In accordance with the general principles of visit and search and the destruction of merchant vessels recognized by international law, such vessels, both within and without the area declared a naval war zone, shall not be sunk without warning and without saving human lives unless the ship attempts to escape or offer resistance."

But neutrals cannot expect that Germany, forced to fight for existence, shall for the sake of neutral interests, restrict the use of an effective weapon if the enemy is permitted to continue, to apply at will methods of warfare violating rules of international law. Such a demand would be incompatible with the character of neutrality, and the German government is convinced that the government of the United States does not think of making such a demand, knowing that the government of the United States repeatedly declared that it is determined to restore the principle of freedom of the seas, from whatever quarter it has been violated.

Accordingly, the German government is confident that in consequence of the new orders issued to the naval forces, the government of the United States will also consider all impediments removed which may have been in the way of mutual co-operation toward restoration of the freedom of the seas during the war, and it does not doubt that the government of the United States will now demand and insist that the British government shall forthwith observe the rules of international law universally recognized before the war, as are laid down in the notes presented by the government of the United States to the British government.

Should steps taken by the government of the United States not attain the object it desires, to have the laws of humanity followed by all belligerent nations, the German government would then be facing a new situation in which it must reserve to itself complete liberty of decision.

In a note cabled to Berlin Monday, Secretary Lansing informs the German government that the United States accepts its declaration of its abandonment of its former submarine policy, and now relies upon scrupulous execution of the altered policy, but cannot entertain a suggestion that the rights of citizens of the United States upon the high seas should in any way be made contingent upon the conduct of any other government.

COUNTY GOSSIP.

Late in July last year, after he had dug a well-matured crop of potatoes, George Springer, of West Franklin, planted three or four tubers which he found in a car at Franklin station. They so fully matured that he will use them for seed this spring.

The bear which has been living on West Ellsworth sheep was trapped and killed by James Grindle last Thursday, and when brought into town Friday attracted much attention. It weighed over 200 pounds, and was of good color and in good condition. The carcass was bought by A. L. Friend.

J. W. Chase, of Ellsworth, was a recent caller at the Journal office, and remarked that he had noticed several items in the Journal regarding old coins, and thought he would put a few of his in his pocket as he was coming to the capital. They included six United States pennies, of dates 1793, 1794, 1795, 1796, 1797 and 1798; a Massachusetts half-cent of 1787; half-cent of 1794 and 1797; and two Massachusetts cents of 1787 and 1788. The 1793 and 1794 pennies, the 1796 pennies, with liberty cap and flowing hair, and the Massachusetts half-cent are very rare. The penny of 1794 is marked on the edge "One Hundred for a Dollar" and the half-cent of 1794-7 are marked in the same place, "Two Hundred for a Dollar." They are all in fine condition, and Mr. Chase handles them as though fully aware of their value. He is an ardent collector and has a fine collection at his home in Ellsworth.—Kennebec Journal.

THE LINCOLN HIGHWAY.

The Lincoln Highway feature film which will be shown at the Strand May 30, under the auspices of the Ellsworth woman's club, reveals the beauty and interest of the great cross-country road. It exceeds even the sanguine expectations of the men who directed the taking of the wonderful series of pictures.

The film is a panorama of some of the most beautiful country to be seen between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and the interest of the observer is held closely as city after city stage extravagant exhibitions before the camera's eye. The Lincoln Highway interest which exists all the way across the continent is shown in a wonderful degree by the thousands who swarm and cheer before the camera at every stopping place.

The film is a valuable historical record of the progress of good permanent roads in this country. A glimpse of every kind of road now in use is afforded, and doubtless our children at some later date when this country will boast a nation-wide system of roads such as is common in Europe to-day, will look with interest at the evolution of the road from the virgin clay to the perfect cement boulevards which are springing up now in sections along every part of the Lincoln highway.

Payson Smith, who for the past nine years has been superintendent of schools for Maine, has tendered his resignation to Governor Curtis, to accept the position of commissioner of education of Massachusetts. Supt. Smith in his letter to Governor Curtis, says:

I am very mindful of the weight of obligation under which I rest for the sympathetic support and co-operation that have been so universally given me by the teachers, school officers and citizens of our State. I trust I may be permitted through this communication to express my gratitude for all of this help and my abiding interest in all that may ever appertain to the welfare of the schools of Maine.

Supt. Smith's resignation will take effect June 30. Among men mentioned as his successor are DeForest H. Perkins, superintendent of schools at Portland; Frank E. McGouldrick, superintendent of schools at Bar Harbor; Kenneth C. M. Sills, dean of Bowdoin college, H. J. Chase, superintendent of schools at Gardiner, William D. Fuller, superintendent of schools of the districts of Orono and Old Town, D. Lyman Wornwood, superintendent of schools at Bangor, Professor William D. Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and is the only safe remedy. Sold by Druggists. Price 50c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

BOARD OF TRADE.

County Agent Worden Tells of Farm Development Work.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of trade was held Monday evening. About twenty members were present.

GREEN LAKE HATCHERY.

Assignments of Trout Fry to Ponds in This Vicinity.

At the government fish hatchery at Green Lake, Superintendent E. E. Race and his crew have been busy the past week taking smelt eggs, for which there is a large and growing demand. The number of these eggs taken runs well up into the millions. Most of these are shipped as eggs, but a few million are hatched at the Green Lake station.

The planting of fry of the humpback salmon from eggs received from the Pacific coast is completed for the year. Among the plants made in Maine rivers are the following: St. Croix and East Machias rivers, about 750,000 each, Penobscot and Dennys rivers, about 500,000 each, Union river, about 150,000, and St. George river about 400,000.

The land-locked salmon and trout have been late in developing this year, owing to cold water from the late snows. The trout are now in the feeding stage, and planting will soon begin. Among the assignments of trout fry for this section are the following: Branch pond, 50,000; Branch pond stream, 50,000; Patten's pond, 75,000; Grand lake, 125,000; Phillips lake, 50,000. About 800,000 will be shipped to other sections of the State. A plant of 25,000 lake trout will also be made in Grand Lake.

The hatchery has about 650,000 land-locked salmon to plant, and 1,400,000 to be shipped. A plant of 100,000 will be made in Green Lake, of which about 75,000 will be of Fish River lake stock, the idea being the improvement of the Green Lake stock by the infusion of new blood. The hatchery expects to hold a large number of salmon for planting as fingerlings.

He had been in Auburn several years working in the shoe factories until last fall, when he was compelled to return home on account of ill health. "Well, mum, you know Miss Milly is getting married soon, so she's taking a course of lessons in domestic science."

important as the community week day, and believes in the strict observance of the day. The Sunday program will contain nothing of an amusement or entertainment nature, but will be entirely sacred and in keeping with the spirit of the day. The program for this day in Ellsworth will include a male quartette, which will present sacred music, and a lecture on "The Civic Conscience," by Lee F. Lybarger. It is customary for the churches of the community to unite in the services at the tent, both afternoon and evening, and sometimes the ministers conduct their own services as a union service at the church in the morning.

Irving Garland, son of Mrs. Eudora Garland, of Mouth of the River, Ellsworth, has had some trying and some interesting experiences at sea this spring. He was cook on board the schooner Cora G., which foundered March 5 after a fourteen-days' gale, 480 miles east northeast of Bermuda. They were taken off just in time by an English steamer sailing many miles off her regular course on account of the war, and were landed in Liverpool. The steamer had a narrow escape from a submarine in the English channel. After a week in Liverpool, they were returned to New York on the steamship California. Mr. Garland is now with Capt. Sidney A. Goodwin, of Ellsworth, in the schooner Robert A. Snyder, bound for Presto, Colombia, S. A., and back to the Gulf of Mexico.

The Junior Brotherhood, a new secret society for boys, with truth, obedience and friendship as its tenets, has been organized in Ellsworth by Roy C. Haines. Organization was perfected at a meeting held at the Unitarian vestry last Friday evening. The officers are: Worthy master, Chandler Hagerthy; overseer, Edwin Royal; prelate, Fuller Hodgkins; lecturer, Dana McGowan; master-at-arms, Edwin Austin; scribe, Carroll Langley; treasurer, Frederick Wood; steward, Thurston Jordan; standard-bearer, Charles Tilden; sentinel, Joseph Morrison. Rev. J. W. Tickle, George N. Worden, and Fulton J. Redman were chosen guardians. In addition to the degree work and social features of the order, athletics will give added interest. A baseball team has already been formed, and is seeking games with other juvenile teams of the county. Edwin Austin is manager of the team. The boys played their first game last Saturday at Wyman park, against a scrub team, winning by a score of 18-16. Next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the same place, they will play the Knights of St. Joseph, the boys' organization of the Catholic church.

Mina Frances Conary thanks her friends who voted her the most popular girl baby in Ellsworth, in the merchants' contest of last month.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS.

The last boys' and girls' agricultural club to be formed in the county this season is located in Ellsworth, upon the initiative of the Ellsworth woman's club. It has ten charter members. The officers for the coming year are: Millard Dews, president; Earle DeWitt, vice-president; Harold Dorgan, secretary; Gertrude Flood, treasurer.
Potatoes and poultry are the projects which the members have chosen. An effort is being made to double the membership, for a club in Ellsworth should have an enrollment of at least twenty. The various projects are: Boys, potato, 1/2 acre; boys and girls, pig; boys and girls, poultry; girls, garden and canning; girls, canning. Anybody interested should inquire for particulars of Mr. Scott, who is to be local leader of the club.

The Ellsworth club will make twelve organized in the county this year. Much interest is being taken in the work.

A little girl who attracted all the passengers of the trolley-car with her singular sweetness was asked by a lady who sat next to her: "Did Santa Claus bring you a doll on Christmas?" "Yes, indeed," said the little girl, and all the passengers smiled, while the mother beamed at the attention her child was receiving. "He brought me two dolls," she replied. "He brought me two dolls," she continued the child to the strange lady, "and, do you know, the hair on one of my dolls' heads comes right off—just like mamma's." And every one but the mother smiled again.

COUNTY Y. M. C. A.

Notes of Social and Religious Work in Island Towns.

The Islesford men proved to the satisfaction of all present at the Community social held at Islesford last Tuesday, that they can serve refreshments as well as the ladies. The county secretary conducted a program of games that interested both young and old alike. A committee under the direction of Fred Morse served excellent coffee, cocoa and cake. This will probably be the last of these pleasant community socials until next fall.

The Bass Harbor social evening, which has been postponed so long, was held last Friday evening at the Community hall at Bass Harbor. A large company enjoyed a variety of games. The newly-installed basket-ball apparatus was used in several of the group games. A committee of ladies, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ida Dix, sold refreshments for the benefit of the hall. The Camp Fire girls will also use the hall, with its equipment, for games and basket-ball. Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Wallace are conducting this work for the girls.

The Seal Harbor Y. M. C. A. juniors won an easy victory over the Southwest Harbor Y. M. C. A. junior baseball team, Saturday afternoon, at Seal Harbor. The score, 14-1, does not fairly represent the merits of the game, for with the exception of the fifth inning, when the Southwest Harbor boys went to pieces, the game was close. The Seal Harbor boys will go to Southwest Harbor two weeks from last Saturday for a return game.

The work that the University of Maine is doing in sending out some of its strongest students to visit the smaller communities is proving mutually helpful. The postponed visit of the team that was to have been at Seal Harbor last week, will take place Saturday and Sunday, May 13 and 14. The Y. M. C. A. juniors expect to play the Northeast Harbor Juniors. Following the baseball game will be a short program of track events. Saturday evening the boys from the University will conduct a meeting, open to the public, at the banquet room of the Neighborhood hall. This meeting will close in time for the moving pictures and for other engagements of the evening. Sunday morning the regular church service at the Congregational church will be conducted by the visitors. Separate meetings for men and boys will be held at the Neighborhood hall at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. The closing meeting of the series will be held at the Congregational church at 7:30 Sunday evening.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building- tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

SINCE TAKING PERUNA

I can say my bowels are much more regular.

My heart is stronger.

My appetite is much better.

My throat is much better.

Mrs. William H. Hinchliffe, 20 Myrtle St., Beverly, Mass., writes: "I have taken four bottles of Peruna, and I can say that it has done me a great deal of good for catarrh of the head and throat. I recommend Peruna to all sufferers with catarrh. I do not think I ever felt much better. I am really surprised at the work I can do. I do not think too much praise can be said for Peruna."

Those who object to fluid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

It takes extra fine flour to make all three equally well, but William Tell does it, because it is milled by a special process from Ohio Red Winter Wheat. If you aspire to blue ribbon bread, cake and pastry that keep the family looking forward to your next treat, tell the grocer that nothing will do but William Tell—the flour that goes farther.

AMERICAN BANKNOTES.

Harder to Counterfeit Than Those of Any Other Nation.

An official of the treasury department says that not only do American engravers of banknotes excel all others in the artistic quality of their designs, but that they likewise excel in the ingenuity of their provisions against counterfeiting.

Jacob Perkins of Newburyport, Mass., invented the method of transferring designs from hardened steel plates to steel cylinders and of retransferring to flat plates, thus enabling the engraver to devote the time necessary to accomplish his best work in the original and reproduce it at will. Asa Spencer, another Yankee, contributed another instrument, the geometric lathe, which renders difficult the successful counterfeiting of paper money.

Most European governments depend for the protection of their paper money upon color work. Several of the large banks of issue employ civil engineers in their bureaus of engraving and printing, a proceeding that puzzles American experts, who cannot see the connection between engineering and engraving. Many Italian banknotes are easy to counterfeit. A few years ago the Bank of Spain was obliged to abandon its own plant, since its notes were imitated so successfully that the counterfeits were without question accepted by the bank itself. A private concern now does the work.

The Bank of Greece employs the American method, having suffered a sad experience with notes of German, Austrian and English make.

The American experts do not hold to the popular notion abroad that the notes of the Bank of England cannot be counterfeited. They contend that these famous notes can be imitated readily enough, for little attempt is made to protect them beyond the use of a watermarked paper.

One practical safeguard of great effectiveness is the custom of the Bank of England of cancelling every note that is returned to the bank and issuing another in its place. This and the practice of keeping a record of the numbers of all banknotes used in every business establishment keep alive a keen sense of responsibility, which adds to security.—Philadelphia Record.

We, the People.

The phrase, "We, the people of the United States," in the preamble of the constitution read in the first draft of the constitution as follows: "We, the people of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, do ordain, declare and establish," etc. Though unanimously adopted by the convention, the wording had to be changed to "We, the people," simply because the constitution, which had not as yet been ratified, was to go into effect when ratified by nine states, and, not knowing which states were to ratify, the naming of the states was, of course, out of the question.

Chameleon Scared White.

Madagascar is the home of the chameleon. In his book, "A Naturalist in Madagascar," James Sibree says the chameleon changes color for other reasons than adaptation to its background. He saw one that turned perfectly white out of fright when seized in the coils of a snake. When released it resumed its ordinary color. The Malagasy call it ranlabeloka, which means "naughty old boy."

Dead Wrong.

"What would you do, Jimson," asked Professor Brainfag, "if you saw a man fall dead in the street without apparent reason?"

"I really wouldn't know what to do, sir," answered the young student. "I think I should just let him lie there. It would certainly be wrong of any man to drop dead in the street without first giving his reasons for doing so."—Kansas City Star.

When Cordova Was the World.

Cordova, Spain, was a brilliant capital of the world, with half a million population, when the rest of Europe was clouded by the deepest lethargy of the middle ages. In the year 850 Cordova was considered the world's fountain of learning and science, and Christian Europe turned to her for instruction in "everything from tanning leather to charting the stars."—Argonaut.

Machine Chews Money.

There is a machine in the United States treasury which chews money, and when the old bills come in this machine takes good care that they are not in any condition to be used again. First all the bills are made into piles and then placed in packages. Then the bills are sliced, so that each one is in half pieces. Then the paper is ground up in the machine.

Antemortem Postmortem.

Visitor (to widow)—I am so sorry to hear of the sudden death of your husband. Did they hold a postmortem examination?

"Yes, and, like all those doctors, they did not hold it until he was dead, or they might have saved his life."—Medical Pickwick.

All Right if You Have Time.

Have You Made Your Will?

"More than ninety-seven per cent. of Americans die without making a will," says Frederick Halsey in the May American Magazine. "The peculiar thing about this is that every man or woman who possesses any property at all intends to make a will—sometimes. Have you made yours?"

"It is conceded by legal authorities that it is the duty of every person to leave a written will in order that the estate may be closed, the property divided among the proper beneficiaries, and that the family or friends may have the benefits of the property, yet more than eighty per cent. of the holders of valuable property neglect this duty. There are three reasons:

"First. Procrastination.

"Second. Superstition.

"Third. Desire to evade taxation.

"The old superstition that the man who makes a will writes his death warrant is one of the chief causes of delay in making proper provision for the distribution of any estate after death," he says. "It is hard to calculate what percentage of men and women believe this superstition, because the majority will deny it. Court experts know that the percentage is large. Yet life insurance figures, taken in comparison with dates on wills, seem to show that instead of being correct the superstition is without basis, and that men who have made wills have lived longer than the average."

"Well, Freddie," said his mother, "did you learn anything new at school to-day?"

"I got on to a new way of gettin' out o' school for an hour, by snuffin' red ink up me nose."

"I don't see how in the world Edith can marry that old Mr. Rockaway." "I do. It's the only possible way she can become his widow."
